Ben has worked with Glean Kentucky since the spring of 2016, working first as the organization's Development Director before moving into the role of Program Director in 2018, and then becoming Executive Director in 2022. In his free time, Ben enjoys reading, playing disc golf, and spending time outdoors. As a graduate of the University of Kentucky's Arts Administration program, and having spent portions of his life working for a produce farm, Ben is grateful to work in a way that combines his love for food, agriculture, and nonprofit work.
